Who is Candace Yvonne Johnson?

Candace is a new resident of the Bay Area, having settled here after completing her doctorate at the University of Michigan, where she studied with the renowned opera singer, Shirley Verrett. Candace is a lyric-coloratura soprano who has been on stage all her life. From TV commercials to musical theater to piano performance and opera, Candace has a unique blend of experiences that allow her to communicate with any audience. In addition to performing, Candace serves on the voice faculty of the Young Musicians Program at U.C. Berkeley, where she also holds a Chancellor's postdoctoral fellowship. She also teaches vocal technique at Revival Center Ministries Training Institute in Vallejo, California. As you plan holiday events, corporate parties, civic functions, and more, remember that: Candace sings "music from the heart..."

...for every occasion".
